Not a penny

That's how much money has been handed to local charity LampH from proceeds of the Haverhill Show in the past three years

NOT a penny has been paid to disabled charity LampH from proceeds of the Haverhill Show or its associated car boot sales in the past three years, it has emerged this week.

Maureen Byrne, chairman of LampH which is supposed to be the show's main beneficiary, said the charity relied on the proceeds to function. "Unless the money is coming in we won't be able to stay open," she said this week.

The organiser of the event, Mick Driver, who took over the running of the show 11 years ago, admitted no payments had been made since 2010 and that the show had gone 'a bit stale'.

The Haverhill Show is one of the main events on the town's calendar and is run on the recreation ground every year in aid of local charities.

Flyers made for this year's show, currently booked for the weekend of June 6 and 7, clearly state "all profits raised will go to local charities".

But questions are being asked after it emerged in a town council meeting on Tuesday night that LampH, which previously ran the Haverhill Show to sus-tain its premises and activities for young disabled residents, was in financial trouble after not receiving a penny from the show since 2010.

Maureen Byrne said: "We have been paid nothing since 2010 and functions have been booked under the charity logo."

Yearly payments to LampH from the show decreased from around £2,000 a year to around £1,500, before the last payment for £1,000 was made in 2010.

Meanwhile, Mr Driver has booked the recreation ground for charity events 21 times since 2010, after making only two bookings each in 2008 and 2009.

He has already made 12 bookings with the borough council for events to take place between May and September this year, with car boot sales charging £6 a pitch organised for this coming Sunday, May 19, June 2 and June 23, all of which are in aid of local charities.

Mr Driver told the Weekly News he had no obligation to give to

Calling all Rascals – it's time to play

NICK KOSTOV

THE last lick of paint has been applied and all the new furniture is in place for the opening of Rascals play barn, under the new ownership of EuroMillions winner Gillian Bayford, on Saturday morning.

Gillian and her husband, Adrian Bayford, had been tight-lipped about what they would do with their money since their massive £148m lottery win last August.

But the Weekly News reported last week that the barn, in Boundary Road, Haverhill, had been bought out by Gillian and her friend Cindy Smith, 45.

After an almighty clean-up this week, it is understood there will be a private party there tomorrow before the doors are thrown open to the public on Saturday morning – with Gillian calling for lots of children to attend.

She said: "We want it to be busy. The barn was open before but it unfortunately had to close down and there was no place for Haverhill children to go".

The barn has a large play area downstairs with a slide and monkey bars and a room upstairs for the children to have tea.

There are also tables where parents can have a drink and a rest while their children play.

Gillian revealed she had wanted to buy the barn with Cindy for a long time.

The previous owners approached her "on numerous occasions" when the barn first came on the market but for a number of reasons, the deal did not happen.

She added: "I had a lot going on at the time, Cindy was working and we thought the price they were asking was a bit expensive.

"But the option came up again more recently and it was a better price, so we went for it."

Now the playbarn is set to open, Gillian also announced she is working on her charitable trust, also to benefit children, with an announcement expected in the next month or so.

As the News reported, the lottery winners still get 30 to 40 letters a week asking them for money – and Gillian was keen to point out that it wasn't because nothing had been announced publicly that no money had been given.

She added: "We have been approached and we have judged everything on its own merits and there have been things handed out.

"But to say who we've given to would be an embarrassment to them, we want to keep it private."

MILLIONAIRE'S PLAYGROUND: Rascals playbarn is set to open on Saturday. Gillian Bayford, top, will run it along with her friend, Cindy Smith

Knife-wielding man faces sentence at crown court

A MAN who brandished a four-inch knife and threatened to kill two people has had his case sent to the crown court.

Alexander Hockett, of Elmdon Place, Haverhill, appeared by video link from HMP Norwich Prison to plead guilty to possession of a knife in a public place at West Suffolk Magistrates Court yesterday.

The court heard how Hockett, 31, returned to his flat on April 21 and became angry with two friends who were visiting the flat.

When the pair, who cannot be named for legal reasons, went out onto the balcony Hockett followed them, threatening to kill them while waving around a four-inch knife if they did not leave.

Rosalind Cappleman, prosecuting, said: "Hockett said 'I'm going to kill you' whilst waving around the knife.

She said one of the victims told police he felt "extremely scared" while the other said she feared for her life before they were able to run from the flat.

Mrs Cappleman said: "An independent witness said she heard screams coming from the flat and she heard a young girl on the phone saying someone had threatened to knife them."

Lyndon Davis, mitigating, said the offence had taken place on the balcony of Hockett's flat, which is defined as a public place.

Mr Davis said: "This was the flat Hockett shares with his partner. It became a public place when he stepped out of his balcony door.

"The visitors to the address were extremely drunk. There was a loud argument between the pair on the balcony and bottles were being smashed outside.

"At this point he tells them he was in possession of the knife."

Another charge of using threatening and abusive words was dropped by the prosecution.

Hockett was remanded in custody by magistrates to appear at a crown court for sentence at a later date.

PLEASE HELP US: Scouts are pleading with the community to help them finally replace their worn out building, after a campaign that has spanned the last 46 years

Arrest is made after house fire

A MAN is lucky to be alive after a fire tore through his house on Monday.

A 38-year-old woman, of Haverhill, was arrested on suspicion of causing arson with intent to endanger life.

The case, however, is not expected to reach court as the woman was subsequently detained under the Mental Health Act.

Three fire crews were called to tackle the blaze just before 11am at a property in Somerset Court, Haverhill.

The fire is believed to have started near the sofa and the crews arrived fearing a man was still inside the property and that his life could be in danger.

The man did manage to make his way out of the burning house.

Scouts' 46-year campaign for new buildings

THREE hundred young people are pleading with the community for cash to help them finally replace their worn-out buildings.

A fundraising drive, run by Haverhill scout and guide groups, has been ongoing since 1967 – that's 46 years ago – to provide the groups with fit-for-purpose facilities.

When the drive was launched, America was still bogged down fighting in Vietnam and the BBC were putting the final touches on a full colour service for its channels.

Grandmother Jill Moss, 55, of Ash Grove, in Haverhill, said she helped raise money when her children first joined the scouts and guides in the 1980s.

Her children's children are now attending the groups every week, and still the money has not been raised.

She said: "The buildings are so dilapidated and we're spending so much on repairs to keep them going.

NICK KOSTOV

"This has been going on for many, many years – we'd be better off spending the money on a new building."

An impressive £32,000 has been raised and is safely in the bank.

The plan had been to generate enough cash for one new state-of-the-art building but scout chiefs have decided to drop the idea after being rebuffed by the National Lottery three times for the funding they needed.

Instead, the new fundraising committee has drawn up a two step plan: to replace the most worn-out building with a new hall and toilet combination worth around £57,000.

Once that is done, the grounds will be suitable for other scout and guide groups to hire for camping, generating more cash to then replace the second cabin.

John Mabb, who chairs the new-look fundraising committee, said the young people, aged between 6 and 18, deserved better – and his new-look committee has hit the ground running to provide them with it.

He said: "We've got lots of events organised until next year, the idea is for the sum of the little parts to take us in the right direction.

"We want to guarantee a meeting place that is light, airy, dry and warm in winter. That's really all we need."

Events planned so far include a pudding night, a car boot sale and a proms in the park night.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Police launch appeal after man indecently exposed himself

A 28-year-old woman phoned the police after a man indecently exposed himself in the town.

The victim was walking along the footpath that runs beside the edge of the public area from a residential estate to the top of School Lane.

As she was about 30 metres past the Newt Pond she noticed a man in the trees a few feet away from the path who was exposing himself near the green metal fencing.

The incident happened around 12.30pm on Monday and the suspect is described as a white man of average height and stocky build, clean-shaven with short/shaven fair hair.

He was wearing grey jogging bottoms and a red hooded top.

Police are appealing for anyone with information to contact PC Matthew Egan at on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Art meets life for new musical documentary

A MUSICAL documentary by EastEnders and Casualty writer Kenneth Emson is coming to town.

Eastern Angles tells the back-room story of the architects and politicians who transformed an old fenland city into a new town.

It's also the story of families torn apart, the foundation of life-long friendships and the emotional upheaval of moving home.

The play will be shown at the Haverhill Arts Centre on May 9 at 8pm. Tickets are £8 to £10 for adults and £6 for under 16s.

Photographer offers to take on running of the show

one particular charity and said he was supporting other charities locally.

He said some money had gone to Gateway and £100 had gone to the Wood Green animal shelter, but declined to comment further.

Instead he read out a statement: "The town is expanding at a fast rate and hopefully more funds can be raised for local charities.

"LampH is just one of the charities that has benefited and in the last four years, they've received £3,000 from the society".

Now a rival bid to take on the running of the Haverhill Show has emerged.

David Doughty, 44, a town photographer who has run a baby stall at the show for the past seven years, said he had become frustrated by the direction the show was taking.

FRUSTRATED: David Doughty, who owns The Gallery in Haverhill, has run a successful photography stall at the Haverhill Show for the past seven years and says he is willing to take on the organisation

He added that he made £150 from his stall last year but had been repeatedly rebuffed by Mr Driver when he asked to donate the money to charity. "It is hard to get businesses to sponsor our stalls when they're not sure where the money is going," he said. Mr Doughty has now officially offered to take over the running of the show, telling councillors on Tuesday there were enough people in Haverhill who felt passionately about the town to do something great.

He met with a core group in the Rose and Crown pub last night to finalise a list of attractions, and was due to meet town clerk Will Austin and leisure manager Nick Keeble later today when a date was expected to be agreed.

He said: "If Mr Driver cares about the show and wants it to be a success then he needs to step aside.

"At the moment something is really wrong, we can't even compete with Thurlow."

Speeding drivers caught by police

■ JENNIE BAKER

CLOSE to 2,800 motorists have been caught speeding during a week-long crackdown across two counties.

The crackdown in Suffolk and Norfolk saw 571 drivers clocked by fixed cameras while driving too fast and the other 2,202 were caught by mobile cameras or patrolling officers.

The push saw officers from the joint roads policing unit and vans from Suffolk SafeCam and the Norfolk Safety Camera Partnership deployed across the counties to step up checks and enforcement.

Chief Insp Chris Spinks said speeding was one of the "fatal four" driving offences with drink driving and seatbelt and mobile phone offences.

He said the campaign was a good way to highlight speeding and the risks associated with it.

He said: "It is as simple as speeding makes you more likely to have a collision, which can cause damage, expense, injury or ultimately the loss of life.

"There is never an excuse to speed and all of those stopped will have been spoken to about their driving behaviour.

"Some have received a fixed penalty notice or, if they were driving excessively over the limit, they will be considered for prosecution at court. It's as much about educating drivers as it is enforcement and those drivers who were only slightly over the speed limit, have a clean licence and have not received a fine in the last three years have been offered the chance to complete a speed awareness course instead of getting points.

"These courses prove very effective in making drivers conscious of their speed and they will also pass the message to other friends and relatives.

"However, some people continue to think speeding is acceptable and so we will carry on our work to make Norfolk and Suffolk's roads safer."

The push took place between April 15 and April 21 as part of an enforcement campaign led by TISPOL, the European Traffic Police Network.

Man, 75, charged with 19 sex offences

THE former landlord of The Woolpack pub, in Haverhill, appeared in court on Tuesday charged with 19 sex offences against young girls.

Peter Michael Lee, 75, who now lives in Heacham, near King's Lynn, was at the magistrates court in Bury St Edmunds facing seven charges of indecent assault on a girl under 14, six charges of gross indecency on a girl under 14 and six charges of indecent assault on a girl under 16.

Eleven of the offences are alleged to have taken place in Haverhill.

The earliest allegation dates back to 1972, and the latest is registered as having taken place in 1980.

Mr Lee did not register a plea at the hearing and the case has been adjourned to the crown court on June 25 at 2pm.

IN MEMORY OF DEENA: Rose Felloni with some of the items she will sell to raise money

Raising money and awareness, in memory of Deena

NICK KOSTOV

SHREWD Rose Felloni and her 12-year-old assistant have been raising thousands of pounds in memory of Rose's late daughter, who died after an illness made her balloon to seven times her normal weight.

Deena Renyard, Rose's daughter, had Prader-Willi syndrome and weighed 35 stone when she died in 2006.

The last time she was taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Deena had to be hoisted mechanically into an empty minibus.

Prader-Willi syndrome (PWS) is a rare genetic condition that causes a wide range of symptoms, including a constant desire to eat food, because of a permanent feeling of hunger. It can easily lead to dangerous weight gain.

"It was living hell," her mother remembers. "Every movement was jarring her and she was screaming because she was in so much pain."

Since then, Rose, 50, of Sorrel Walk, Haverhill, has been on a relentless drive to raise awareness of Prader-Willi.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER: Deena and mum Rose

And she has picked up a young assistant along the way; 12-year-old Kieran Young came on board when Rose sold some furniture to his mother.

Kieran asked why she was doing it and after listening to Rose tell her daughter's story, Kieran asked to help, and now regularly joins Rose on her fund-raising missions.

The unlikely pair recently handed over a whopping £6,000 to the Prader-Willi Society.

Rose said: "It's a great achievement for us. The young lad sells a few of his own bits and he's been really helpful."

Rose described her daughter's life as "worse than hell," saying she was bullied and harassed not only by other children but also by teachers and health professionals who didn't understand her condition.

"People would pull her clothes up; they'd push her because she had no balance. She just wanted to be like other people but she couldn't be," she said.

Rose now spends up to four hours a day raising awareness for the illness.

She described her business model as "simple" – she finds things people no longer want and sells them on. Lately she has discovered Facebook, and she has used the social media site to raise over £3,000 in the last five months alone.

"I don't know if I'm a wheeler and dealer, maybe an opportunist," she said.

Mending the road must be a priority

I'M writing in response to the article about the state of the road in Quakers Lane, Haverhill.

Why do the council say there is nothing they can do with it as there is no funding? Surely it's more important to fix the road which many people of all generations need to use to get to the ex-servicemen's club than it is to erect unsightly toilet roll looking objects on roundabouts? The town has recently seen the closure of the bowling and snooker club because people weren't using it, and if people cannot get to the ex-servicemen's club, that will only end up having to close too.

Also there are many of the older generation who cannot get out a lot for various reasons and this is the one place they do go to, and enjoy socialising with other members and non-members.

The club holds many events and especially through the summer they have barbecues with many fun things for families to enjoy. People are having to be dropped off at the car park which is fine for those of us who can walk with ease but there are many ladies and gentlemen who are unable to, so this then stops them from going out and enjoying their life.

This town already lacks things to do for everyone, and because of this many people go out of town. It shouldn't be that way. The town is large and the people of the town should be able to come together and enjoy one of the few places we have left!

Let's hope for all those who would like to be able to use the club that something can be done with the road.

They should have offered an alternative

WITH regard to the debate on the MMR vaccination, it's not just 10 to 16 year olds who are unprotected due to fears over the safety of a triple vaccine.

My son is now 22 and when he was due to have his MMR, I had known of two or three friends whose children had vaccinations and suddenly became ill – two so serious they were left unable to walk for many months.

Although no link was ever proven nor a diagnosis given I decided I wasn't happy with the triple vaccine and so did not take my son to have his, although his older sister is protected because she had hers beforehand.

I, like many other parents, did what I believed was right at the time.

I believe that at that time parents should have been offered the vaccines as single vaccines spaced over a longer time and I'm sure the uptake would have been more, I definitely would have been one.

Although the autism link may have been discredited, it's not like the powers that be are never wrong about health issues. The claims about CJD or 'mad cow disease' was that it couldn't transfer to humans and this was sadly proved wrong.

This is happening a lot: we're here to help

I READ with interest your story regarding a Haverhill woman whose benefits had been stopped and she had been passed 'fit for work'.

Sadly, we are seeing this on a fairly regular basis at the REACH Resource Centre with some people passed fit who clearly should not be.

In situations such as these claimants can appeal the decision and organisations such as ours or the Citizens Advice Bureau are more than willing to help.

Video released for Union J's debut single

UNION J have released the music video for Carry You, their first single.

Former Newmarket flat jockey Jamie (JJ) Hamblett and his bandmates George Shelley, Josh Cuthbert and Jaymi Hensley can be spotted in the video checking out an open mic night and taking to the stage.

The band, which has a following of more than 944,000 on Twitter, is set to release the single in early June.

Union J won fourth place in the semifinal of ITV's X Factor talent show in December behind James Arthur, Jahmene Douglas and Christopher Maloney.

IMPORTANT: Town Clerk Will Austin urged voters to base their votes on local issues, not national ones

Seats to change hands in elections

NICK KOSTOV

THE electoral map of Haverhill could be transformed when voters go to the polls today.

Residents of the town will be asked to choose between 11 candidates for just three county council seats.

Two seats in the Haverhill Cangle ward are up for grabs and one more in the Haverhill East and Kedington ward.

And in an uncertain vote, the one certainty is that all three seats will definitely change hands once the votes are counted on Friday.

Tim Marks (Con) and Philip French (Con) will not be standing for reelection in the Haverhill Cangle ward, while Ann Gover (Con) has stepped down from her Haverhill East and Kedington seat to run for the Haverhill Cangle ward instead.

The big question is whether Labour, the Lib Dems and UKIP can make inroads and secure one or more of the seats – with all three Haverhill seats currently held by the Conservatives.

Town clerk Will Austin said the election was important for the provision of local services and encouraged voters to base their vote on local issues, rather than national ones.

He said: "I'm keen for people to see these elections as important in the context of their lives."

"The county council run a lot of services and this is people's opportunity to have their say on how these services are delivered."

Although Suffolk's county council is one of a number of local authorities responsible for services in the area, sometimes leading to confusion, Mr Austin was keen to point out how important these elections are.

The county council is responsible for education, adult social care, youth support and traffic and transport, for example.

And these provisions have led to plenty of debate and discussion in the town over recent months.

Whether the high street should be pedestrianised, for example, is a decision for the county council.

The reorganisation of schools and the provision of libraries are also issues for the county council, as is the running of Haverhill's care homes.

Suffolk county council is currently dominated by the Conservative party, who hold 55 of the 75 seats.

The Lib Dems hold 11 seats, while Labour has only two seats and two independents are also in office.

In all, voters across the UK will go to the polls to elect 34 local authorities.

Anyone over the age of 18 who is registered to vote can go to a polling station between 7am and 10pm on Thursday.

There is no widely accepted reason why local elections are held on Thursdays – one theory is that people were not paid until Fridays, and so holding polls on Thursdays ensured they were not too drunk to vote.

WILL YOU BE VOTING TODAY?

Serial offender steals again

A MAN with a string of previous convictions had admitted to two counts of theft and making off without payment.

John Christopher Harden, 48, of Bishops Close, Haverhill, pleaded guilty to the charges at West Suffolk Magistrates court in Bury St Edmunds on Wednesday.

The first incident took place on April 20 when Harden stole food and alcohol from Tesco worth more than £600.

He then took a taxi home with four loaded bags of groceries but failed to pay the £5.60 fare, telling the driver he would get money from a friend but never returned.

Nine days later, on April 29, Harden again stole food and alcohol from Tesco, this time worth £230 just after 8pm.

The court heard how security watched him put the items into his 'Bags for Life' and down his jacket, before he tried to make out through an unmanned checkout.

He was arrested quickly after leaving the store.

Rosalind Cappleman, prosecuting, said Harden was a serial offender with 50 previous convictions for a total of 175 offences – 74 of them for theft.

In mitigation, the court heard how Harden had gone 10 days without cash after not receiving his jobseekers' allowance.

It was also said Harden has a drug addiction and was stealing to fund his addiction after he had failed to kick the habit.

Harden was granted conditional bail and will return on May 29 to be sentenced.

*Can't seem to find the words this time
To say how it used to be
Just a piece of frozen time
When you were here with me*

*You know how much I miss you
Mere words just cannot say
The ache that's deep within my heart
That never goes away*

*I bear it mentioned often
That time will heal this pain
But if I'm being honest
I hope it will remain*

*You should have had so many years
To watch you life unfold
And in the mist of all of this
Watch me, your Mum grow old*

*But angels came and took you
That really wasn't fair
They took my one and only son
My future life my heir*

Love you always and forever.

TOP MARKS: For the air ambulance

Top marks for the air ambulance

A LIFESAVING charity has passed a health watchdog's inspection with flying colours.

The East Anglian Ambulance (EAAA), which provides the air ambulance service across the whole of Suffolk, was declared safe after its most recent inspection carried out by the Care Quality Commission.

The charity was passed on the care and welfare of patients, cleanliness and infection control, and the way it manages a patient's consent to care and treatment.

Tim Page, chief executive, of the East Anglian Air Ambulance, was delighted with the results of the test.

He said: "The commission gave us a thorough inspection and we are very pleased with the results.

"We aim to be a leader in pre-hospital emergency medicine and the commission has recognised the efforts we are making."

He did, however, warn that more work needed to be done to maintain and exceed the high standards set.

He added: "We are already aiming to exceed these high standards but our staff should feel proud that they helped us to achieve such positive feedback."

Folk scene to return

A MUSICIAN who played a key role in the Haverhill Folk Group in the 1980's is looking to bring back folk music's glory days in the town.

Len Marsh, a bodhran, guitar and ukulele player, is working with Haverhill Arts Centre to start up regular folk sessions in the Arts Centre bar.

Nick Keeble, lesire manager at the Haverhill Arts Centre, said he hoped Len could establish a core group of 'folkies' who would work together to enhance the programme of music the centre offers.

Len said that in the 1980's, he ran the Haverhill Folk Club at The Rose and Crown and a large number of musicians and singers used to show up.

Until it was refurbished, he said that with his friend Don Mackay, they promoted numerous Folk events in Haverhill.

He added: "With Haverhill Arts Centre having a successful programme of folk music in place, it seems like a great time to get a regular session going."

"I know a number of local players who travel to folk evenings at venues out of town and hope that they will support this new venture".

The first session will be held in the Arts Centre on Wednesday 8 May between 8pm and 11pm.

Shop to mark first birthday

BARGAIN hunters will be pleased to hear the Sense charity shop is offering many items for just £1 on May 10 to celebrate its first year.

The shop, on Jubilee Walk, in Haverhill, sells both second-hand and new goods and gives all its proceeds to the Sense charity which support deafblind people.

Nancy Ayling, shop manager, said: "When we first started as a pop up shop, we didn't know how long we were going to stay open for."

"The community's heart warming welcome and generous donations have kept us going."

Nancy said the shop was always looking for donations and volunteers.

A new head of school is appointed at Castle Manor

NICK KOSTOV

A NEW head of school will take up the reins at Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill – and he's potty about cricket.

Describing himself as a keen follower of many sports, particularly football, cricket and rugby, Matthew Gibson, 40, plays cricket for Great Dunmow, where he lives with his wife and two sons.

He officially steps into his new role in September, but last Thursday he visited the school and met students.

He said he couldn't wait to get started and was committed to ensuring all young people have access to an "excellent, broad education".

"I am delighted to have been appointed as Head of School at Castle Manor Academy and am hugely excited about getting started," he said.

Castle Manor Academy will be Mr Gibson's fifth comprehensive school.

He started work as a history teacher in the mid 1990s and spent the last five years in a number of roles at Newport Free Grammar School, where he is currently deputy head teacher.

Principal at The Castle Partnership Academy Trust, Madeleine Vigar, will now focus more on education in Haverhill as a whole.

She said: "I'm certain that Matthew Gibson will provide a fresh challenge for the Castle Manor students."

"I will work on our plans for the John Page Free School and look for ways to bring investment to the town to build a state of the art, All-Through Academy Campus."

Little Oliver with his new iPad, which Weekly News readers enabled him to get. Now he and mum Samantha want to help Oliver's friend benefit in the same way.

Picture by David Johnson

Oliver's little friend next to benefit from your help

THERE'S no stopping the flow of phones to the Haverhill Weekly News office on Queen Street.

A huge number of readers got behind our newspaper's call to help Oliver Bryant's mum collect the 185 old mobile phones she needed to provide her autistic son with a specially made iPad.

And although Oliver, 4, received his iPad last week, the phones are still being handed in, and the message is... keep them coming!

Mum Samantha Last, of Crispin Close, said she would pass all the phones kindly handed in by our readers to one of Oliver's young friends.

The little girl is just two and half years old and she often plays with Oliver because she lives just round the corner from him.

Although her parents want her to remain anonymous, they told us their little girl suffers from ongoing speech and hearing problems so language is obviously a problem for her.

They said an iPad would help hugely and added they were overwhelmed by the support Oliver received.

On Monday, Samantha took 26 phones donated for Oliver to the little girl's grateful parents who now have around 50 phones already.

The iPads are fitted with a special app which would help their daughter with communication.

Oliver was handed his shiny new £400 iPad last week and Samantha said she could already see the difference it had made, not only to his communication, but also to his co-ordination and mood.

She said: "I don't think the novelty of it will wear off for him.

"It helps his concentration and his fiddly skills are pretty poor so it's helping with that.

"When he gets a bit stressed and frustrated, he also goes on it and it helps him to calm down and communicate to me what the problem is."

Oliver is getting ready to start school in September and Samantha now feels much more confident about him taking this step.

She said our campaign had helped people understand what she was going through and she had received a lot of support and kind words from both friends and strangers in town.

She now hopes to help other people raise the phones for iPads.

"It's incredible to see how thoughtful and generous the people in Haverhill have been.

"It really has restored my faith in humanity," she said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Sharp rise in number of drugs and sexual offences

POLICE have reported a large increase in the number of sexual and drug offences being recorded in Haverhill in the past 12 months.

Addressing councillors at the town council meeting, the town's police chief, Insp Peter Ferrie, said sexual offences were up more than a third, by 36 per cent, and drug offences had also seen a sharp 21 per cent rise.

The inspector told councillors the increases could be explained and should not unduly alarm the residents.

Many of the sexual offences recorded were for historic allegations, some of them dating back more than 50 years, he said.

Of the 63 drug offences recorded last year – 11 more than the previous 12 months – seven were recorded as trafficking offences, the most serious drug offences, and the 56 others were recorded as less serious drug offences.

The inspector said he was pleased to report a fall of 21 per cent in the number of burglaries, with 13 fewer taking place in the past year than during the previous 12 months.

Anti-social behaviour was also down significantly, with 326 fewer cases this year.

The numbers for public disorder and violence against a person stayed constant, with both seeing modest drops.

The three priorities for Haverhill police are currently all parking and traffic-related, he said.

Insp Ferrie said the numbers were taken for the period starting in April 2012 and going through to the end of March 2013, and comparisons were made with the 12 months previous.

Shovels at the ready for the great compost giveaway

FREE compost, bargain green waste bins and environmental experts will be on offer to green fingered residents.

The new initiative is part of the Suffolk Waste Partnership to highlight the environmental and financial benefits of those who choose to make and use their own compost.

The event will be winding its way throughout Suffolk and will stop off at Haverhill's East Town Park on Monday, May 13.

Free compost will be available between 10am and 4pm (or while stocks last) so residents are encouraged to grab a shovel and a bag and get shoveling.

Organisers have warned no trade vehicles will be allowed.

KICKING BACK: This group of kangaroos are clearly enjoying relaxing in the sun

Just chilling

Residents at Linton Zoo have enjoyed soaking up the sun this week . . . and there's more to come over the holiday weekend say forecasters

BY NICK KOSTOV

FINALLY, after a long, cold winter, the sun seems to be here to stay. . . for a few days at least.

And the residents at Linton Zoo have clearly been enjoying a rise in temperature, lazing in the sunshine or splashing about in water pools.

Forecasters say there's more to come with plenty of sunshine this Bank Holiday weekend.

The mercury will rise to 15C in Haverhill – not quite Magaluf, but a lot warmer than a month ago when we were shivering through the coldest March for 50 years.

■ Whatever you're up to this weekend, don't forget to take your camera and send us some photos for our 'Your Pictures' slot on the letters page.

TIME TO PLAY: In the water pool

Young entrepreneur scoops first award

DELIGHTED: Chloe, 24, receives her award from Matthew Hancock MP

EVER since she was little, Chloe Garrett, 24, had wanted to own her own business.

And in September this year, her dream came true when she set up PCRecruitment on the corner of Station Road, in Haverhill.

The young entrepreneur now employs two members of staff, one in sales and another in accounts, for her recruitment venture.

Although still getting off the ground, Chloe's business won its first award recently – at the BestofHaverhill awards held at the Days Inn. PCRecruitment was awarded a "best business" certificate for being highly recommended by their clients.

Chloe's award was presented by local MP Matthew Hancock.

She said: "I have always wanted to start my own business but I didn't think I would do it this early on."

"I learned a lot from where I worked before and I thought I'm still young and I've got nothing to lose".

Chloe, of Spring Close, Haverhill, describes herself as "tenacious and ambitious" and puts her drive down to her parents pushing her when she was younger.

Her sister, Holly, is only 25 but she also runs her own business – a riding school.

And her message to other young people thinking of starting their own business: "Just go for it".

Charity fun day to help hospital

A BIG fun day is being organised to raise funds for the Adenbrooke's Charitable Trust.

Peter Scott, Drew Wilder and other volunteers are working hard ahead of the Seven Springs Spectacular set to be held at the Exning Athletic Football Club, near Newmarket, on July 27.

Classic cars, motorbikes and scooters will pour onto the site, bands will play, and among the prizes up for grabs in the raffle will be a 1973 Morris Mini.

Peter, a father of three girls, said: "A lot of people have been touched by the work Adenbrooke's does and a lot of what it does can only be done through charitable support."

His eldest daughter, Emily, now 14, was cared for at the hospital after being born prematurely.

Peter, 46, said: "Now she's 5ft 5in and she's fine but she had about seven weeks in intensive care when she was a baby.

■ JENNIE BAKER

"That cost about £5,000 a week when she was there so that's 14 years ago."

He was also prompted to put on the event by the bravery of Sophie Bell, from Exning, who was treated at the hospital before her death during the Christmas holidays following her diagnosis with a brain tumour in February last year.

He said the 9-year-old's death had spurred him on to do what he had been planning for some time.

He said: "I was inspired by the bravery of Sophie and her family to go ahead and move on with the fundraiser."

Peter, from Exning, said Adenbrooke's was an important cause in the area.

He said: "It's very easy to put your hand in your pocket for things like Children in Need and Red Nose Day and that's absolutely fine but this is something very important locally to a lot of people and that's why we felt we wanted to do something."

The event will also have fairground rides, a bouncy castle, dodgeball contests and retro competitions, as well as food and a licensed bar.

It will be free to attend and will kick off at noon.

The bands who will be playing on the day include Chuck Cash and the Fenland Cowboys, The Dirty Flaws and Now Wash Your Hands.

The day ex-soldier saved a life on way home from work

When a man lost his legs in an horrific accident at a railway station, he'd have bled to death had it not been for the actions of a fellow commuter – retired soldier Mark Budden. Emma Higginbotham reports.

AFTER two decades in the army, Mark Budden was ready for a quieter life.

The dad-of-two from Saffron Walden had seen plenty of high-octane action, not least as the commanding officer of a bomb disposal unit in Afghanistan. So last year he decided to swap his uniform for a suit, and joined the army of commuters instead.

What he couldn't possibly have imagined was that his army skills would soon save somebody's life – not on the battlefield, but at Bishop's Stortford railway station.

It was an ordinary Wednesday evening in early January. Mark, who works for Network Rail in London, had just stepped off the Stansted Express and was waiting to catch a connecting train to Audley End. Then the screaming began.

"I'd been off the train about a minute, I'd just got out my book to read, and I saw a woman running towards me, screaming hysterically," recalls Mark. "I stopped her and said 'What's going on?' And she said 'Someone's on the tracks, someone's been hit by a train'."

"Stupidly I thought oh, someone's jumped. And then I thought hmm, this is not the place you jump from. Then instinct took over."

Without hesitating, Mark sprang into action, dashing into the ticket office and instructing staff to call the emergency services and stop the trains: "then I ran along the platform, looking down, and after about 20 meters I saw the body. I didn't know if they were alive or dead."

The man on the track was Matt Robinson, a 29-year-old from Bishop's Stortford. He'd also been on the Stansted Express, travelling home from his job at the Bank of England. Realising he'd left his wallet on the train, he'd got back on to look for it but couldn't find it, and stepped off again just before the doors closed. "Then as the train pulled away, Matt had turned to have one last look through the window, edged forward, didn't notice the gap, and fell," says Mark. "Just awful. A truly awful accident."

Mark saw that Matt was still conscious but horrifically injured. "He was clearly in a lot of pain, and then I saw the extent of his injuries: one was an above-the-knee amputation, one was a below-the-knee amputation."

"The above-the-knee amputation was obviously the worse injury because his blood was pumping out at a significant rate. I knew that he probably had a couple of minutes to live, and I knew that if I didn't do anything he was going to die."

After checking that no trains were about to thunder through, and after reassuring himself that the power came from overhead wires rather than an electrified rail, Mark jumped down on to the track and began removing his belt to make a tourniquet.

He then shouted at one man to act as a look-out for oncoming trains and, knowing he'd need a second tourniquet, shouted to another man, John Thorp, to get a belt: "John said 'I've got a belt myself', and I could see he wasn't panicking, so I said 'Right, stop – jump down and help me down here'."

Meanwhile, Mark had seen another likely assistant: Pamela Abbott from Stapleford. "I said 'Can you help?' And she jumped down as well." Matt couldn't have been in better hands: John is a former customs officer with first aid training, while Pamela had done a Red Cross first aid course.

"There was a mix of people on the platform: there were people panicking; there were people who left quickly; there were what I would call the 'grief chasers' – the nosy ones; and there were people who wanted to help," says Mark. "Luckily I spotted two of those."

Mark fastened his belt around Matt's above-the-knee injury, and asked John to hold it in place, "but the blood was still coming, so I got him to make a fist and push it into the top of Matt's thigh, where the femoral artery is. I'm not a medic, but every soldier deploying to Afghanistan does battlefield first aid training, so I knew the basic rudiments of trauma care."

Using John's belt, he then made a tourniquet for Pamela to hold in place on the other leg and, after putting his scarf between Matt's face and the stony ground, concentrated on keeping him calm. "Reassuring the casualty is incredibly important, it keeps them alive," explains Mark.

"He said 'Am I going to die?' And I said 'Look mate, you're not going to die. I've seen worse – unbelievably I have seen worse – and you're going to be fine."

Face down on the ground, Matt didn't realise the extent of his injuries and asked Mark what had happened. "I said 'What do you want to know?' and he said 'Tell me the truth'. I said 'OK, both legs are off'."

"But he was so pragmatic and brave. Incredibly, he was more concerned about his mum than he was about himself: she was in the car park waiting to pick him up, and he was very worried about her sitting in her car, seeing stuff going on and not knowing what it was. Which tells you an awful lot about Matt, I think."

By this time, a policeman had arrived and was putting a cordon in place: Mark shouted out Matt's mum's name, car registration and mobile number and sent the policeman to find her "and under no circumstances to allow her onto the platform."

With relief, Mark realised that Matt was now stable: "I knew he'd sustained horrific injuries, and he clearly needed medical attention, but we'd stopped the bleeding. I only found out after from a medic at the hospital that he'd lost a significant amount of blood: they said he had probably five minutes before he would have died from bleeding out."

Yet Mark brushes aside talk of bravery and heroism: "Brave, stupid, there's a fine line," he laughs. "I suppose the brave thing was jumping down, knowing that in commuter rush-hour, another train could be coming any minute. But I don't consider it brave, I just think it was the right thing to do."

"The brave ones were John and Pamela for jumping down and listening to some random stranger telling them what to do. An awful lot of people walked away that day. If everyone had done that, Matt wouldn't be alive today, so it was completely selfless of those two to take a stand and offer their help."

"But also Matt was incredibly brave. For me it was humbling to see a young man with such horrific injuries dealing with them so stoically."

Mark spent 20 minutes on the track with Matt before he was blue-lighted to Addenbrooke's, then went to the toilets to wash off the blood. Realising he wouldn't be able to catch a train home, he hailed a taxi: "then we drove to Audley End, I picked up my car, and drove home."

"I remember getting in the car thinking 'crikey, that wasn't what I was expecting on my commute home!' But I felt absolutely fine. Unfortunately I've seen injuries of a similar nature from the army, so I wasn't really shocked. And it sounds cold, but I did sleep that night."

The following morning, Mark rang Addenbrooke's: "I knew that they wouldn't be able to give me any details, because I wasn't a family member, but I just wanted to know that he'd lived. They said he'd had an operation last night and was in a stable condition, and I just felt an immense sense of relief."

Mark left his phone number, and a few days later Matt called to thank him – and asked him to visit. As they hadn't seen each other's faces before, it was, says Mark, an emotional moment.

"We never actually saw each other because Matt had been face down, so this was first time, although he'd seen my face in the paper so he had a head start! It was great. He was in good spirits and cracking jokes – he's just a hugely positive person."

Mark visited him several times in hospital; at the end of last month, Matt went home, "and I've said I'll come and pester him at his house," says Mark with a smile. "We've struck up a rather surreal friendship. I don't know how best to describe it, but it's great."

"So after an awful accident, it's a good news story: Matt's an immensely strong character who will get through this. He's into scuba diving and snowboarding, and OK, it'll change how he does those activities, but it won't stop him. He'll hopefully lead a very healthy and successful life for another 60, 70 years."

And, he adds, he isn't haunted by that day: "If things had turned out differently I might have been, but as awful and graphic as it was, I don't think of Matt on the track, I think of him wheeling himself round – and very soon he'll be on artificial limbs, getting on with his life."

"For me it's a happy ending to an unbelievably tragic accident. It's just an incredible piece of good fortune that I seemed to be the right person in the right place at the right time."

Today, Mark continues to enjoy his quiet life with his wife, Colette, and children Freya, 10, and Finley, 9. But the irony of that fateful event will never escape him.

"It's funny isn't it? I spent 20 years in the army and yes, I've seen terrible accidents and injuries, but it's the first time I've got hands-on and saved somebody's life. It's just weird that it happened after I'd left the army, coming home from work in a suit!"

Tech stars of the future

AFTER three months of hard work on the computer, the innovation competition at Samuel Ward Academy has a winner.

Students were asked to design a webpage, or series of webpages, that would help others learn.

And competition chiefs picked out Maisie Bott's website as the best of the lot.

The website gives helpful tips to anyone studying art, photography and design and technology and provides examples of high quality work.

Maisie, a year 9 pupil, was presented with an ipad for winning the competition.

Hamish Mackenzie, who co-ordinated the competition, said Maisie's site had been chosen for "the balance of design, accessibility, originality and usefulness to other students at Samuel Ward".

In second place, Aaron Luccarini, in year 13, built a website that introduces politics to young people, and in third place, Chidera Nkem-Paul, a year 10 student, put together a study aid to the GCSE text 'An Inspector Calls'.

More vans are targeted by thieves

SEVERAL more vans have been broken into this week, prompting a warning from police.

Two work vans on Aspen Close, in Haverhill, were targeted, and one on Chimswell Way.

Nothing was taken from the first two vans, where the would-be-thief broke in via a side window for one and jimmied a back door for the other.

A Makita 18-volt drill, worth up to £350, was taken from the third van.

A neighbour told the police the incident had taken place at exactly 2.33am on the morning of Friday, April 26.

The witness described the thief as "male, dark-skinned and wearing a hoodie".

On Monday night this week vans were targeted in Westward Deals, Barton Grove and Dash End in Kedington.

In one of the incidents rear doors had been left insecure and around £600 of equipment was stolen, including an Hitachi SDS Drill, a Bosch jigsaw, a Makita reciprocating saw and a Dewalt SDS drill.

In Barton Grove, a white Ford Transit van was broken into and approximately £2,000 worth of tools were stolen.

The incident comes exactly seven days after four vans were broken into last Thursday night.

Two drills, a self-leveling laser and a power reader were taken, and Inspector Peter Ferrie has appealed to van drivers to be extra vigilant.

He said: "There is someone around town jemmieing back doors and smashing windows to steal from work vans."

"I would urge drivers not to leave anything on show or in the rear of the van if you can possibly avoid it."

Police have asked anyone with information to contact 101.

LONG SERVING: Val Pool, Pauline Griggs, Renee Ager and Rosemary Groom

Smiles all round as Townswomen's Guild members are honoured for long service

IT's all fun and games at the Haverhill Townswomen's guild – as our picture shows.

Three long-serving members received certificates.

Val Pool was honoured for spending 25 years with the guild. Pauline Griggs has been going for 50 years and Rosemary Groom for 25 years.

Chairman Renee Hampson, 73, said the women were laughing because she was making fun of them. "We're old but we do take the mickey," she added.

Charity shop in appeal for stock

THE Sue Ryder charity shop has launched a desperate plea for stock.

"We will take absolutely anything from a once worn blouse to an odd sock" is the general message of the charity's month-long appeal, as people tighten their belts and give less to charity than they did before the recession hit.

Sue Ryder reuses, recycles and re-sells over 15,000 tons of donations a year that might otherwise end up as landfill.

Last year, the charity generated over £9.5 million from the sale of donated and new goods - turning profits into care for 16,000 people with life threatening illnesses last year.

All money raised from the sale of donated items goes directly to support the charity. To donate to the shop in Haverhill please call 01440 714017.

New drive to recruit teachers in Suffolk

A RECRUITMENT drive by Suffolk County Council is set on boosting the number of maths teachers in schools in the area.

Sue Cook, the council's director of children and young people's services, said there is also scope for teachers to retrain and specialise in maths.

She said: "We are keen to showcase the opportunities that a career in teaching maths in Suffolk can offer and we hope that through this recruitment drive we will attract people from outside the county, bringing fresh ideas and enthusiasm to the subject.

"There are also opportunities available for teachers currently working in Suffolk to retrain and specialise in maths, it is a crucial subject within teaching and I would encourage anyone interested in finding out more to get in touch."

We should stay in EU, say firms

WITHDRAWING from the EU would be bad for business but specific powers must be handed back to Westminster, Suffolk firms have said.

Almost 65 per cent of the Suffolk participants in the British Chambers of Commerce's EU business barometer poll agreed pulling out would be bad for the regional economy but the relationship must change.

John Dugmore, chief executive of Suffolk Chamber of Commerce, said: "We know, in the main, that as part of our 'Exporting is Good for Suffolk' campaign for 2013 that being part of the EU is viewed as opening doors for exporters."

the GUIDE

Raunchy show date

EastEnders bad boy, Dancing on Ice champ and musical maestro; is there anything Sam Attwater can't do? Ahead of his Cambridge appearance in The Rocky Horror Show, Lydia Fallon chats to the actor about landing his raunchiest role to date.

FROM hanging out with Dot and Phil on the cobbled streets of Albert Square to gliding across ice in Lycra and sequins, Sam Attwater's career so far has had variety, to say the least.

But it's the bright lights of the stage that gets the tall, dark and handsome 27-year-old truly excited. "Musicals are always what I wanted to do," Sam says. "I sing, dance and act and enjoy all aspects of that. Performing to a live crowd is great – you can't make any mistakes and I get a real buzz from it. I thrive under that pressure."

Currently wowing audiences as Brad in the hip-thrusting, time-warping camp-fest that is The Rocky Horror Show, when we speak on the phone, Sam has just performed in his opening night in Edinburgh and is in a jubilant mood. "It went really well," he says shyly. "I was just pleased to get started and get the first show out of the way."

Telling the story of squeaky-clean college sweethearts Brad and Janet and their adventure at the hands of Dr Frank'n'Furter, The Rocky Horror Show is full of fun, frolics and timeless songs – and 40 years since its first showing back in 1973, it's still wowing and shocking audiences in equal measure.

Show director Christopher Luscombe has given the show a new lease of life for its 40th anniversary tour, but Rocky Horror die-hards need not fear, it's as naughty as ever, and definitely Sam's raunchiest show to date.

He recalls a moment during his solo number Once in a While, when an audience member shouts out something far too rude to repeat here; my blushing went into overdrive.

Another thing Sam's still trying to get used to are the risqué outfits for which the show is famous. Let's just say he won't be donning fishnets, corsets and stilettos on a night out with the boys anytime soon.

"That was the part I didn't enjoy quite as much," he laughs. "At one point I come out in a corset and stilettos, which was so scary but the audience really helped put me at ease, there was just this wall of noise. But the outfits are interesting, to say the least – I definitely won't be wearing them at weekends!"

And talking of camp costumes, it's almost two years to the day since Sam took the Dancing on Ice crown, stealing the hearts of the nation with his slick moves and sizzling 'Will they, won't they?' partnership with Canadian skater Brianne Delcourt.

The whole experience was a dream come true for the actor. "I never thought I would take to the ice so naturally; I knew I could skate around but I never expected to be able to do the lifts and all the intricate bits."

"It's quite funny because I had always said it was my dream to be on EastEnders and Strictly Come Dancing, but then Dancing on Ice came along and it was great to do something challenging like that."

And what about his honest feelings towards the notoriously hard-to-please judge Jason Gardiner?

"Jason is very pantomime," Sam recalls. "He puts on an act for the show and it brings in the viewers. At the end of the day it's fantastic entertainment."

The show was also where he met his current girlfriend, the stunning professional skater Vicky Ogden (we sense a trend!), but you won't catch them on the ice together any time soon. "I'm actually not allowed to as it breaks my contract – it comes under extreme sports," he laughs.

I ask whether it's hard to juggle a relationship with the pandemonium of life on tour. "It can be hard but we live together, which helps. And I think when you do spend time apart it makes you really appreciate the time you get to spend together."

Some of that time might be spent wandering around Cambridge, and as a first-timer, Sam can't wait to explore. He's also expecting one of the best crowds on the whole tour.

"A couple of the performances in Cambridge are late-night ones and all standing. It's a rowdy show as it is but I imagine it's going to be rowdier than ever!"

Lodestar line-up

TALENT from closer to home will be joining the Canadian kings of electropop, Dragonette, at the Lodestar festival.

Fred's House (hotly-tipped by BBC Introducing), and From The Sticks are the latest additions to the line up.

Fred's House, an acoustic indie-folk four-piece from Cambridge have been played on BBC 6 Music, wedged in alongside the likes of Lucy Rose and Kyla La Grange and compared to the brilliant Of Monsters And Men.

Packed with humour "high-energy riffs and off kilter vocals", From The Sticks are an indie-dance quartet with a passion for making arty music videos.

So, this is how the line-up now looks: Candy Says, DJ M, Dragonette, Face The Ocean, Flowers, Fred's House, From The Sticks, Hatcham Social, Jess Roberts, Paper Aeroplanes, The Birthday Kiss, The Joy Formidable, The Vestals, Thumpers, Ryan Keen, The Wicked Whisperers, Mausi.

Now in its fifth year, Lodestar has quickly earned a reputation as one of the most relaxed and chilled boutique festivals in the UK, winning praise for its affordable prices and facilities (including winning Best Toilets at the 2012 UK Festival Awards!).

Held on a large site in Lode, the festival has a family-friendly focus and, as well as music, comedy, theatre and other entertainment, boasts a wide range of sporting activities, from power-kiting and zorbing to archery and five-a-side football.

Lodestar runs from Friday, August 30 – Sunday, September 1. Early-bird tickets have now sold out, but mid-bird and full-price tickets are still available. Weekend tickets start from £64 (adult), £56 (15-17-years), under-15s go free.

Day tickets start at £20 and are available from www.lodestarfestival.com.

21 & OVER certificate 15, 1h 33m

SCOTT Moore and Jon Lucas, co-writers of the first chapter of The Hangover trilogy, make their directorial debut with a raucous and gleefully foul-mouthed comedy that attempts to replicate the boozy shenanigans of their earlier script.

21 & Over harnesses the reckless abandon of three high school friends on the night at the youngest member of the trio comes of age and can legally buy and consume alcohol.

To celebrate, the pals embark on an ill-fated bender that includes a close encounter with a rampaging bull, a near-death experience with a swimming pool cover and naked humiliation at the hands of a sorority of enraged Latinas.

We first meet gung-ho Miller (Miles Teller) and strait-laced Casey (Skylar Astin) walking across a campus in their birthday suits, with red raw buttocks and a sock apiece to spare their blushes.

The film then flashes back to the previous day as Miller and Casey arrive at the house of their pal Jeff Chang (Justin Chon), who is turning 21. Birthday celebrations are put on hold because Jeff has an interview for medical school the next morning organised by his controlling father.

But after much persuading, Jeff agrees to accompany Miller and Casey out on the town for a couple of drinks before an early night. Umpteen beers and shots later, the birthday boy is paralytic and Casey is smitten with a girl called Nicole (Sarah Wright), who is attracted to spontaneous, unpredictable men.

Sparks of mutual attraction are doused, temporarily at least, so that Casey and Miller can carry their buddy home to his bed. Unfortunately, neither lad knows Jeff's address so they embark on a madcap misadventure in search of inspiration, crossing paths with Nicole's soafish jock boyfriend Randy (Jonathan Keltz), who clearly doesn't deserve her.

Like The Hangover, the film bolts together set pieces into a fractured and debauched narrative. However, 21 & Over is considerably sweeter than its predecessor.

Garden designs – Swedish style

SWEDISH design goes much further than Ikea, thanks to Swedish garden designers including award-winning Ulf Nordfjell, who is currently preparing for his forthcoming show garden at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show.

Yet it is possible to bring Swedish design to your own garden, giving it a more contemporary feel with clean lines and good use of symmetry, he says.

“Sweden doesn’t really have the same tradition as the UK in terms of its gardening. England has a much richer history with many different styles, ranging from old and traditional to extremely modern,” he explains.

“In Sweden we favour clean, simple lines and like to create the feeling of space. Most notably, Swedish gardens must be adaptable to the harsh climate, so we use materials that can cope with that such as granite, concrete, timber and steel.

“We have extreme winters and long summer days and so have to carefully select plants that can cope with these conditions. In the summer when it stays light until late, you can go out and do your gardening at 3am.”

Sharp lines can emphasise any structures in the garden and are unusual as they are so rare in nature. They can also draw the eye to your focal point, he observes.

“One way to do this is by pruning hedges. In the Laurent-Perrier garden, I have pruned quercus hedges, which are underlined by low walls of travertine. These draw the attention to the pergola, where there is an elegant water feature.

“Water can be a great way to add character to your garden. It adds movement and you can easily build around it. You can be creative and choose a sculpture or piece of art for added interest.

“Rather than placing it centrally, French gardeners will often place statues to the side, which creates different areas of interest around the garden.”

His favourite British plants include Anemone ‘White Swan’, Iris germanica, stipa grasses and taxus (yew) hedges.

His Chelsea show garden will be a contemporary take on a romantic garden, acknowledging the heritage of the family-owned Laurent-Perrier champagne house while incorporating a modern elegance. He has chosen simple materials such as stone, wood and metal, complemented by perennials in a colour palette of soft pinks and blues, as well as creamy oranges, yellows and whites.

Perennials will be planted in blocks in different layers, including iris, viola, dianthus, stipa and verbasum in full sun and thalictrum, gillenia, aruncus and anemones in half shade.

Gardens in Sweden are very focused on spring, which takes place in April and May in southern Sweden and a couple of weeks from the end of May in the north. There’s another peak of interest in mid-summer, but the focus tends to be on structural design rather than plants.

While there is more interest in perennials these days, Sweden does not enjoy late-flowering plants that are abundant in this country, says Nordfjell.

He has been inspired by many British designers, from Vita Sackville-West to Christopher Bradley-Hole, Julie Toll, Andy Sturgeon, Tom Stuart-Smith and Jinny Blom.

But among his favourites is the late Ulla Molin, a Swedish designer renowned for introducing modernism in gardening by using strong materials, soft colours and fewer, more selective plants.

FAVOURITE: Anemone ‘Honorine Jobert’.

His own personal favourites for each season, which are easily grown in this country and will add both colour and texture to the garden scene, include Cornus sanguinea ‘Winter Flame’ in winter; Scilla siberica, Helleborus nigra and Fritillaria meleagris ‘Alba’ in spring; Dicentra Formosa ‘Aurora’, Iris sibirica ‘Silver Edge’, Paeonia ‘White Wings’, Rosa moyesii ‘Nevada’ and Phlox paniculata ‘Rosa Pastell’ in summer; and Anemone ‘Honorine Jobert’ and Gentiana makinoi in autumn.

Making his Marque1 here

MARQUE1 Cars has moved to a prestigious new showroom in Wyton near St Ives, and is now able to offer a selected range of boutique motor cars in an unprecedentedly agreeable environment.

Owner Mike Lee, who started the luxury car supplier from near Newmarket ten years ago, is delighted with the move.

"We're now able to house the stock in a setting which mirrors their pedigree," says Lee. "The range now includes not just some of the most prestigious motors available in the UK, but is also a stop-off point for their wealthy owners, which include John Terry, whose 458 Spider we recently sold, and other examples from Eric Clapton and Jay Kay of Jamiroquai."

The Marque1 Cars performance and luxury sports car showroom current stock for sale includes

STYLE: Marque1 Cars is based in a new showroom in Wyton. Right: Owner/founder Mike Lee.

Aston Martin, Bentley, Ferrari, Lamborghini, Mercedes and of course Porsche – Lee spent 12 years working at an official Porsche Centre.

"We work on an appointment-only basis," Lee adds. "This way we make sure we can dedicate sufficient time, attention and any discretion which may be needed for such an important purchase." Finance terms are available on request. Details at www.marque1cars.com, call (01223) 755911 or via mobile on 07738 997 911.

ON SALE: The Renault Captur.

Captur from £12,495

JUST before its world debut at the Geneva Motor Show, Renault has confirmed UK pricing and specification for its new supermini crossover, Captur.

Available to order in the UK from this week, the French marque's chic new entrant is priced from £12,495, and is available in four trim levels: Expression, Expression+, Dynamique MediaNav and Dynamique S MediaNav.

Captur's simple four version range is powered by a series of all turbo petrol and diesel engines, all either recently launched or revised. They include the 0.9-litre TCe 90 and 1.5 dCi 90 through to the brand new 1.2 TCe 120, mated exclusively to EDC (Efficient Dual Clutch) transmission.

BRITISH HORSE RACING EDUCATION AND STANDARDS TRUST QUALIFICATIONS ADMINISTRATOR (Full-Time)

Newmarket Based

Salary: Circa £18,500.00

The British Horseracing Education and Standards Trust (BHEST), a registered Charity, is the Awarding Organisation for qualifications in the racing, thoroughbred breeding and associated industries.

We are looking to appoint an enthusiastic Qualifications Administrator to join our small dedicated team based in Newmarket. In this role you will use your excellent communication skills and attention to detail to support all of the administrative aspects of awarding qualifications, from managing the registration and certification process through to assisting with the production of assessment materials and associated documentation.

To apply, please email your CV with a covering letter detailing your suitability for the role to: recruitment@britishhorseracing.com. Alternatively applications can be posted to: The British Horseracing Authority, Human Resources Department, 75 High Holborn, London WC1V 6LS.

Please visit our website for more details: www.britishhorseracing.com

Closing date: 20 May 2013

Dr Wheeler & Partners Linton Health Centre Nurse Practitioner

Part-time

This is a new post to work alongside a colleague who is undertaking a Nurse Practitioner qualification at the moment. We have an excellent team of nurses and support staff in this large, rural dispensing practice, serving a practice population of 11,250. This is an exciting opportunity to help us develop our services to patients. We envisage between 4 and 6 sessions a week. Informal enquiries/visits welcome.

Practice Nurse

Part-time 26 hours per week
Monday – Wednesday – Friday

This post is to replace a practice nurse who is moving away from the area. In addition to general treatment room duties, we are looking for someone with an interest in diabetes/willingness to train to help us run our diabetic clinic.

For further details of either post, or to arrange a visit please e-mail sheila.griffiths@nhs.net or tel 01223 891456.

DUXFORD YOUTH INITIATIVE TRUST

We are seeking to employ a trained and qualified Youth Worker to run our youth club, The Duxford Massive.

The club meets every Friday evening, in term time, between 6.30 and 9.00pm

We can offer above Cambridgeshire County payment rates.

We have around 100 youngsters on our register with between 40 and 60 regular attendees.

The Youth Worker would be assisted by our group of volunteers and by a very supportive Board of Trustees.

For further information please contact

Band 6 School Nurse

Term time only, 18 hours per week over 3 days

8.15am – 4.15pm Thursday and Friday with an additional 3 hours on a Wednesday – actual times to be agreed

A vacancy has arisen for a part time School Nurse, band 6, to work within our school nursing service. The applicant will be required to work independently as part of a team to support the medical and pastoral care of students within the Foundation. Ideally, you will have experience and developed skills in assessing the healthcare needs of young people and be able to provide appropriate care, treatment and support. Recent experience working with young people would be an advantage.

Healthcare Assistant

NVQ Level 2 or equivalent experience

10am to 6pm, Monday to Friday, including school holidays

We are seeking a Healthcare Assistant to join our school nursing service. You will assist the School Nurse with providing a medical service to our pupils and a first aid service for our staff. You will also contribute to the administration in the department including keeping accurate pupil records, recording incidents and ordering medical supplies.

To visit the surgery informally or to discuss either of these posts, please call the surgery on 01223 454772

Further details and an application form may be downloaded via our website www.stephenperse.com/recruitment or from this QR Code or phone 01223 454750
Closing date for applications is noon on Wednesday 15th May 2013
The School is a registered charity

The Stephen Perse Foundation is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and applicants must be willing to undergo child protection screening appropriate to the post, including checks with past employers and the Disclosure and Barring Service.

BROADCOM® RECRUITMENT OPEN EVENING

Wednesday, 15th May 2013 - 5pm – 8pm

Do you want to work at the cutting edge of multimedia technology?

Broadcom's engineering innovations in connectivity have transformed how the world communicates – in the home, across the network and within the latest mobile technology.

Due to further expansion, we have vacancies for both software and hardware engineers at our office in Cambridge. We are looking for candidates with a strong academic background and experience in embedded software or ASIC design, particularly in the fields of graphics, imaging and video.

Applications from graduates are also welcome.

Come and join us for an Open Evening at our Cambridge offices for your chance to find out more about the company. You will be able to see live demonstrations of our technology in action, meet our world-class engineers, talk with our management and discuss the opportunities of a career with Broadcom.

If you are interested in working for us, but can't make it to the open evening, please send your CV to europeanjobs@broadcom.com or apply online at <http://broadcom.com/careers>

406 Science Park, Milton Road, Cambridge CB4
0WW. Tel: 01223 381300

Youngs stars in a famous triumph

LUKE Youngs hit an unbeaten half-century as Haverhill beat a Mildenhall side featuring Essex players Tom Westley and Tymal Mills by seven wickets in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Skipper Simon Youngs put Mildenhall in to bat and the hosts got the perfect start when Amit Gupta trapped Westley for just five runs.

Fellow opener Alex Reynolds (5) followed shortly afterwards and despite the best efforts of Andy Squire (19) and Mildenhall skipper Steve Lankester (30), the visitors were all out for 145.

Spinners Nigel Brunning (3 for 37) and Anthony Phillips (3 for 32) did the bulk of the damage. Haverhill opener James Smith retired hurt early on but a steady partnership between Luke Youngs and Kyle Blanchard (31) took Haverhill to the brink of victory.

Phillips (12no) joined Youngs and steered Haverhill to 146 with seven wickets in hand.

Captain Simon Youngs said: "To beat a side of the quality of Mildenhall is a great feeling. We really did control the game from start to finish.

"To see the two young lads at the crease at the end bring us home was superb.

"After last week's game I was looking for a reaction and I got it.

"The application that was missing against Frinton was there today and if we continue with that mentality we will be fine this season."

In the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two, Weston Colville slumped to a 125-run defeat against Saffron Walden II.

An impressive knock of 82 from Steve Livermore helped Walden put 192 all out on the board.

Steve Atherton (4 for 7) and Ashley Garrod (4 for 24) then wreaked havoc with the ball and visiting skipper Adie Westley (19) was the only batsman to reach double figures as Colville were bundled out for 67.

Beccles began to light up the scoreboard, piling up more than 50 points.

But Haverhill got a reward just before half time when Kevin Pullen collected a short line-out from hooker Peter Lester and plunged over the line.

The second half was closer, with Chris Claydon scoring twice for Haverhill, both being converted by Martin Hughes.

Herrington, Cousins into regional final

Just champion: Jane Herrington and Simon Cousins.

CP

JANE Herrington and Simon Cousins were victorious in the Douglas Bader Mixed Greensomes competition at Haverhill Golf Club.

They scored 38 points to qualify to play in the regional final at Ely on Thursday, August 29. Pat and Graham Kennedy were second on countback from Leah and Steve Nichols after both pairs scored 36 points. Jamie Morse was the overall winner of the Men's IFF Challenge, in which 86 players took part.

He scored 44 points, to cut his handicap by three to 19, to win Division Three. John Goddard was second with 38, one better than Keith Whitfield.

In Division One, Michael Goldsmith was first with 43, five clear of Richard Boyles. Steve Miller was third with 36.

David Parsons needed countback to win

Division Two from Aaron Tokley after both shot 40. Glen Hughes was third with 38. Gavin Taylor was victorious in an event which trebled up as the Men's Monthly Medal, the first leg of the Cecil Darken Trophy and the 2013 Lombard Trophy. He scooped the overall prize with nett 65, cutting his handicap by one to 11, and by taking the Lombard Trophy qualifies through to the regional final of the Pro-Am at King's Lynn in July. Gordon Price was second with 69 and Garry Baird third with 71.

Ben Stanley was first in Division Two with nett 66, two ahead of Russell Gritti. Ross Curl was third with 69.

In Division Three, Sean Doyle was first with nett 67, one more than Terry Pinkney. Leonard Sanders was third with 75.

Dashing blades: Josh Ruthven (left) and Will Bailey after their big partnership.

CP

Josh and Will are partners in runs

JOSH Ruthven and Will Bailey shared a monster partnership to set Haverhill under-15s on their way to an 84-run win over Linton.

Haverhill were put in to bat, but the opening pair proved unbeatable as they both carried their bats throughout the 20-over innings.

Both grew in confidence as the innings progressed and Ruthven launched three huge sixes and eight fours on his way to sparkling 68 not out, while Bailey made 49 not out with five boundaries.

With the help of extras, the pair set a very healthy 152 target for the visitors.

In response, Linton batsmen

Foulds and North started well, before the partnership was broken when North was stumped by Haverhill wicketkeeper Paul Jenkinson. Although the Haverhill bowlers were not as tight as they could have been, they started to take wickets as the Linton batsman felt the pressure of keeping the scoreboard ticking over.

The pick of the attack was Tom Baker, who took the last Linton wicket and returned figures of 3 for 8 from 2.4 overs.

Sam Street had 1 for 5 off three overs, Ben Eames 1 for 12 from two overs and Emma Ellis 1 for 5 from two overs.

> Baseball

Blackjacks are let down by poor fielding

HAVERHILL Blackjacks lost their second match of the season in equally thrilling fashion to their first, going down 19-18 away to Leicester 2Sox.

The away side got off to a flying start by bringing nine runs in, with all the team getting a bat in the first inning; this was followed by the home side getting three in their first inning, setting the tone for a rollercoaster ride.

The pitchers took command of the game and the next three innings were tight, with Phillips of the Blackjacks and Christopher of the 2Sox giving up only three runs between them, leaving the score at the end of the fourth 11-4 to the Blackjacks.

The fifth inning saw the away team's poor fielding undo all their hard work and the home team made sure they capitalised on this by bringing in six runs to make the score 11-10 and, from this point, the game could have gone either way.

The defining inning was to be the seventh, with Blackjacks scoring four but the home team's bigger roster and the away team's continued fielding errors beginning to make a difference as the 2Sox scored five to go in front 17-16.

The eighth gave the home side another run while they kept the Blackjacks quiet.

The away side put their all in to the last inning and got two runs to tie the game, but they could not get the extra run to take a lead into the bottom of the ninth and the walk-off run was scored by the 2Sox, ending the game 19-18.

Need for experienced hand crucial as Betts steps in for final matches

KIERON Hammatt has been sacked as manager of Haverhill after just two months in charge.

Hammatt took the reins from chairman Ali Shulver, who had been in caretaker charge after Peter Betts quit earlier this season.

But Shulver, who had continued to assist Hammatt on the touchline, said poor recent results meant it was felt a change had to be made despite a 5-1 win in their last game at Walsham Le Willows last Saturday.

He said: "The club has been chopping and changing all season since Peter Betts stood down and the old chairman stepped down after long service at the club.

"We've accepted it's going to go through quite a transitional period and Kieron came into the club at a really difficult time and worked really hard without a shadow of a doubt.

"He has worked tirelessly to try to turn things around, but just to my thinking the first team manager has to be a role model for the whole club and we felt the job has just come to him a little bit too soon in his career.

"Without a shadow of a doubt, I think he'll be a success wherever he goes, but we felt he needs a bit more experience.

"It was a football decision, not a personal one, and one day he might even come back to the club once he has got a few more years experience under his belt."

Rovers' football development officer Betts, who took charge of the 3-0 win at home to Woodbridge Town two weeks ago while Hammatt was getting married, has returned to the helm on a caretaker basis for Haverhill's last three matches of the season, starting with last Saturday's home encounter with Kirkley & Pakefield.

Shulver said: "We thought it only right to inform Kieron straight away after a decision had been made.

"We've still got three games left and we didn't want him to be around the club knowing he wasn't going to be there next season.

"Peter wants to focus on the football development side rather than be in the dugout and we want him to do so alongside a first-team manager that he can do the job with, but he was glad to help out.

"We've got a couple of candidates who we've spoken to and we'll look to make an appointment as soon as possible."

Jack Wilkinson and Marc Abbott both scored twice as Haverhill thrashed the opponents 5-0 on Saturday.

Wilkinson fired home on the rebound on 36 minutes after his initial shot was parried by the keeper and Abbott doubled Rovers' advantage with a 25-yard drive just before the hour.

Abbott's 25-yard free kick curled into the top corner on 67 minutes and Marcus Hunt made it 4-0 soon after, being the first to react after the keeper fumbled Abbott's long-range strike.

Wilkinson finished the job 11 minutes from time after good work by Neil Cogger from Hunt's free kick and it got worse for the visitors as they had a player sent off late on for a foul on Abbott.

Haverhill followed up with a 3-1 win at Wivenhoe on Tuesday night courtesy of goals by Sam Holmes, Ross Elkins and Jake Twinn.

They end their season with a trip to Godmanchester tonight.
